"Disaster? Or Poor Planning?" — A Wake-Up Call

from Grade 3 A : October 13,2025

On the morning of 13th October 2025, the young visionaries of Grade 3 A at Adani Public School, Mundra delivered a powerful and thought-provoking skit titled "Disaster? Or Poor Planning?" during the school assembly. With remarkable clarity and conviction, the students used storytelling to shine a light on one of the most urgent issues of our time—disaster preparedness and the consequences of inequality in planning.

Set in the fictional village of Greenfield, the skit traced the journey of a community caught off guard by a sudden natural disaster. Through the voices of children, elders, and civic leaders, the performance revealed how lack of foresight, weak infrastructure, and exclusion of vulnerable groups—like the elderly and the poor—can turn a natural event into a human tragedy. The arrival of a personified "Disaster" served as a dramatic reminder that calamities don't wait for warnings, and that their impact is magnified when communities fail to plan inclusively. What made the performance truly impactful was its emotional honesty and civic wisdom. The students didn't just portray chaos—they offered solutions. From early warning systems and safer housing to inclusive planning and school-based disaster drills, the skit ended with a vision of a transformed Greenfield: a village that had learned from its mistakes and rebuilt with compassion and foresight.

The final chorus — Disasters don't discriminate but inequality does! Let's build a resilient future for all! resonated deeply with the audience, leaving behind not just applause, but awareness. Kudos to the talented cast and their dedicated mentors for crafting a performance that was both age-appropriate and socially powerful. Grade 3 A reminded us all that even the youngest voices can lead the way towards a safer, more inclusive tomorrow.
